

EQUAL EDUCATION CAMPAIGN

For Your Child's Better Future

Dear Parent,

Which parent doesn't want their child to grow into a healthy adult and achieve success in life? It is every parent's cherished dream to see their child get a good career, financial wellbeing and a dignified life. Parents work hard, make sacrifices, and are ready to do everything that can ensure a better future for their child.

You are one such parent. You are ready to work hard, sacrifice, and do things that can ensure a better future for your child. You know that your child's better future depends, often solely, on the quality of education and opportunities she/he gets from the school and our governance system. But the question is, 'Is your child getting the best possible high-quality education in school?' 'Is she/he getting the best and equal opportunity to succeed in life?'

When you see your child not getting good quality education and opportunity, you feel disappointed and frustrated. Sometimes you show your anger but most of the time you just accept it as your and your child's fate! Right to Education is a Fundamental Right. Right to Education Act, Sarv Shiksha, Madhyamik Shiksha and now Samagra Shiksha Abhiyan, all promise good facilities and good quality education. But still, the school your child goes to, does not have good building or lights and fans, it may not have even the most basic facilities such as drinking water and toilet, it may not have enough teachers, there may not be any good teaching, your child may not be learning much. You see your child's future is bleak, you do not see any hope!

But there is no reason for you to lose hope! To get a good quality education and equal opportunity is your child's fundamental right. However, it is our collective failure that our governance system is not able to uphold our children's right. But, merely blaming government, schools, teachers, etc. does not help. As a parent you may ask, 'What can I do about it?' You may say, 'I'm ready to do anything for my child's better future.'

This is what we are doing in Equal Education Campaign. It is a campaign for ensuring equal good quality of education for your child. And here, you as parent, are not helpless. In fact, you are the one who joins hands with other parents and some committed volunteers and change this scenario. By becoming aware of what is your child's right, by working with school and community, by involving in your child's education, you can, indeed, ensure good facilities, good quality education and opportunities for your child. So, come and join hands with Equal Education Campaign, with other parents and volunteers, and take that necessary step in making your child's future better.

You need not do any agitation, call bandh or do violence. You need not criticize anyone, you just have to work together with many parents like you and some committed volunteers. Engage in making School Development Plan, engage in implementing it, demand that government and administration do their duty under the Act. Don't worry if you do not know much about it. We are there to work with you. Just join hands with parents, teachers, social transformers, etc. This much you can surely do for your child.
